

I feel too few companies already own too many communication facilities. Expansion is a threat to democracy and should not be permitted. A public discussion of issues will be limited.

I am a registered Democrat but I voted for Bush. I fear a backlash to his administration if this monopolistic expansion isn't stopped. People want to know both sides. That is how I made my decision last election. I considered both side's positions. Other Democrats in my family also voted for Bush for the reasons above. We are all upset on the position of the FCC chairman.

Thanks,

Herman Feldman and family